RED CROSS SEAL IN MOVIE PICTURE WITH A ROMANCE

Dr "The Lone Game" is Arresting Attention on Account of Its Helplessness.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM)
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Football, Red Cross seals and tuberculosis are cleverly blended into a strong romance in "The Lone Game," a motion picture produced by Thomas A. Edison for the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The picture will be released on Saturday, December 11, and will be used as an aid in the Red Cross seal campaign throughout the country.

"The Lone Game" is based upon a book by Thomas Crawford Galbreath, entitled "T. B. Playing the Lone Game." The leading characters in the play are Dean Norman, a wealthy young college student and star player on the football team; Phil Proctor, a poor student who earns his living by coaching and tutoring; and Grace Proctor, Phil's sister, studying voice culture in a nearby city and being supported largely by her brother.

Dean meets Grace through a street car accident. At the hospital he finds that her brother had been his tutor in college and learns that Phil has been suffering from what his physician calls malaria, but which is later found by a specialist to be tuberculosis, induced by overwork and lack of proper food. While Grace is in the hospital, Dean, to whom she has become much attached, also develops tuberculosis, brought about by neglect of a cold and living in germ-infected rooms at college.

He bids Grace goodbye and under most favorable circumstances, with a private car, a special nurse and every luxury money can buy, goes West to fight the disease and play "the lone game." Phil, wrongly advised by his doctor, also starts for the West, tiding by himself in a day coach, greatly weakened by his disease and with only $20 in his pocket. When he arrives at a western resort town, he finds that, with money gone, even though weakened by disease, he must work. He is unable to hold a job, however, and cannot secure admission to hospitals without money. The result is that he is "passed on" weaker and weaker from town to town, until he is reduced to beggary.

Grace during this period supposes from his cheery letters that her brother is getting well. She, too, has overworked meanwhile and contracts tuberculosis, but is examined immediately at a free clinic, and is given prompt treatment in a charitable sanatorium. Here she recovers rapidly and gradually regains her voice.

During this time Dean, with good care and wholesome outdoor life, has been steadily improving. He had lost all trace of Grace when she went to the sanatorium until, one day, as he was riding in his automobile, a beggar fell almost in front of the machine. As they picked him up, he dropped a letter on which Dean read "Grace's" name and address. He recognized Phil, but all the care he could bestow came too late.

Later, restored to health, Dean finds Grace, almost well, in the free sanatorium.

FUTURE FOREIGN TRADE IS TALKED

By Dr. Snowden Who Predicts Many Changes and Difficulties as Result of War.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Commercial conditions throughout the world were reviewed by Dr. Albert A. Snowden, of the National Association of Manufacturers, in an address today before the International Trade Conference which is being held here under the auspices of the manufacturers' association.

UNCLE JOE

he returned to the lower house over Democratic opponents last fall, formed an interesting group. Joseph C. Cannon, former speaker of the House, and now well on toward 80 years of age, stood out prominently. If he finishes his present term he will have served forty years in Congress, eight years as speaker. Other Republicans who remained at home during the last Congress to reappear today were Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio; William B. McKinley, W. A. Riederer, William W. Wilson, George E. Ross, John A. Sterling and Charles E. Fuller, of Illinois; Ebenezer Hill, of Connecticut; Cyrus A. Sullivan, of New Hampshire; and Benjamin K. Koch, of Pennsylvania. Meyer London, the first Socialist elected to Congress from New York, attracted much attention.

Senate proceedings always are quieter than those in the House. As striking as the return of old faces to the House was the absence of familiar countenances in the Senate.

Senators Root, of New York; Burton, of Ohio; Bristow, of Kansas; Crawford, of South Dakota; Perkins, of California; and Stephen, of Wisconsin, were missing from the Republican side. Democratic ranks missed Thornton, of Louisiana; White, of Alabama; and Camden, of Kentucky. The first business was swearing in the new senators. Most of them already are well known in political circles.

Among the Republicans came James W. Wadsworth, of New York, successor to Root, who attracted attention as the youthful speaker of the New York assembly; Charles Curtis, of Kansas, who succeeds Bristow; and Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, who succeeds Burton.

Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, former majority leader of the House, led the new Democrats. Other Democrats who took the oath were James D. Phelan, of California; J. C. W. Beckham, of Kentucky; Robert F. Brunsard, of Louisiana; Edwin S. Johnson, of South Dakota; and Paul O. Hastings, of Wisconsin. The Senate now stands Democrats fifty-six and Republicans forty.

Tomorrow shortly after noon the House and Senate will sit in joint session in the hall of the House to hear President Wilson deliver his annual address.

GLASS DEMAND IS VERY GREAT

Jobbing House Stocks Are the Lowest They Have Been for Thirty Years.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—The Glass worker says:
It begins to look more and more likely that the present strong demand for window glass will continue well up into January if not considerably longer.

It is not reasonable to expect that the strong buyer for immediate use will continue indefinitely, but there is a very good reason why factories should be kept busy long after such demand is satisfied, and that is found in the unparalleled lowness of jobbers' stocks from end to end of this country.

It is said on the best of authority that never since 1884 have the stocks of the jobbing houses been allowed to become so nearly exhausted as they are now, and there is every reason to expect that the jobbers in replenishing their supplies, and in getting full stocks to meet the early spring demand, will keep the window houses busy for quite a time after the coming of the new year.

Tableware and bottle factories are also beneficially affected, all having as much, if not more, than they can do at present. Orders are rolling in with every mail, and the most optimistic reports are heard from all sides. These are borne out by the best of evidences, new furnaces being added and additional shops put to work.

COWS EAT PAINT

And Later Commit Suicide by Jumping from High Cliff into River.

CARROLLTON, Ky., Dec. 6.—Jack Dean lost a cow and a calf last week in a peculiar way. He had been painting and had put an empty paint bucket in an outhouse. The cow and calf got to the bucket and licked it. It seemed to make them sick, and Mr. Breece was called. That evening while giving them medicine the calf made a rush for the bank of the river and jumped over.

Supposing it had killed itself, they waited until light to look for it. The next day they could not find it or any signs of what had become of it. The next evening while doctoring the cow, the cow got loose and rushed over the cliff.

They took a lantern and went to see if it was killed, and go there just in time to see it muck for the river and drown. It seemed to make a clear case of suicide.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer. The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Get it today.

In certain foreign countries is to some a cause of apprehension; others believe that the skilled labor of the belligerent nations has been demoralized and damaged, immeasurably. That machinery will be used more and more to assist production, is a settled conclusion. To some persons, the dyestuffs situation, the foreign embargo on wool and other commodities and the dumping probabilities, emphasize the necessity for tariff readjustment; on the other hand there is an appreciation of the fact that an investor nation must have large importations of goods. Self-sufficiency in the providing of our own requirements is strongly advocated by some individuals; others realize that no nation can be fully self-dependent—that a division of labor among the nations, each excelling in its own specialties, is as necessary as is the customary division of labor in the productive activities of the home country. Certainly trade cannot long remain one-sided. We must buy from others as well as sell to them. There must be a middle ground between self-sufficiency and co-operation.

SHOULD HELP

Judge Tells Woman to Drink Her Husband's Beer.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Dec. 6.—Michael Begal, of this place, was hauled into court the other day on a charge of beating his wife. Mrs. Begal said that Mike got a can of beer every night and drank it. Since it contained five glasses, she said, Mike invariably became intoxicated and "screamed." Judge Lockwood then came forward with the startling suggestion that if the wife would drink part of her husband's "growler" every evening, she would probably be able to keep him sober.

Turkey's area is about 695,000 square miles.

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914.—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go amongst people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned." (Signed) Mrs. C. C. Roberts, Weatherford, Okla.

The Resinol treatment speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.
